exposed so long as there are rebel armies in the field. Guerrilla raids will cease when the rebel armies are broken up. The only se curity to your State against invasions and raids, is the destruction of the rebel armies Were our old regiments full even to the minimum, the days of rebellion would be numbered, and but few. The true defense of your State therefore is by filling the old regiments now in the field. This will give a crushing force, which must soon sweep the rebel armies from the field.

It's better for you, and for the service that you enlist in the old regiments. It secures you from much of the dangers of camp and field, and greatly increases your efficiency as a soldier. These regiments are now historic. They are ennobled by deeds of brave suffering and lofty heroism. Their banners bear inscriptions of living memories. #### FRANKFORT.

FRIDAY,.....NOVEMBER 20, 1863

The Kentucky Legislature meets on the first Monday in December, and the session is destined to be one of the most important and responsible in the whole history of the State. Its importance cannot be estimated too highly. In view of the responsibility that will rest upon each individual member, it is vitally essential that the wishes and sentiments of their constituents should be as fully known as practicable. It will not do at this crisis in our State to make a mistake. Mistakes are of trifling conse- Annals of the Army of the Cumberland. quence in times of peace, and can soon be corrected-but not so in times like these, when all the elements and influences of the political world are being stirred to the profoundest depths. Questions will come before our next Legislature which will require all the wisdom, courage, and foresight of the patriotic statesman, and he will be the better able to discharge his whole duty to his State and his country, who acts as the ex ponent of an intelligent constituency.

Kentucky has thus far been true as the needle to the pole, in her every duty, under the influence of an enlightened public sentiment, and the guidance of loyal Legislatures. Every thing beckons her on in the same path. She will prove faithful. The next Legislature, in point of ability, loyalty, and high character, will compare with any similar body that ever assembled in the State, and we have every hope and assurance that their councils and deliberations will redound to the wellfare and honor of the State.

It will be unnecessary for us at this time to discuss the many important questions that will be before the Legislature. They are matters of general interest and knowledge, and we doubt not have received that attention from an intelligent reading public which their importance demands.

22d Ky. Infantry.

We are glad to learn that the movement set on foot some weeks since to purchase a new stand of colors for this gallant Regimen has proven successful. The sum of $278 has been cheerfully contributed by the citi. zens of Greenup, Carter, and Franklin counties, and the city of Louisville, and the colors will be ready by the 1st December, to be sent to the Regiment. When the picture of the old flags, rent and torn by hard service upon the battlefield, was exhibited every one appreciated the propriety of honor ing a band of soldiers who had won such honor at such a great sacrifice. No regiment has a brighter record than the 22d Kentucky, and the testimonial, which will be presented, will, in an eminent degree, be deserved.

We are indebted to Col. J. D. Pollard for the success of the enterprise. To his management the whole affair has been left, and great credit is due to him for his activity and zeal. An opportunity will be afforded to our citizens to see the new colors before they are sent to the Regiment, which will be about the 1st December.
